I am an accomplished and versatile communications professional with extensive experience working in global media and finance. At present, I work with the International Finance Corporation's leadership, regional offices and partners across the globe to highlight our work and priorities whilst managing reputational risks. A team player with strong writing, filming, and video editing skills, I am adept at implementing communications strategies. My track record of coordinating reporters and creatives to cover international events and stories in innovative ways is illustrated by my portfolio at mariagalang.net.
